In neo-institutional theory literature, studies of decoupling have provided only a binary view of the employees of symbolic structures: ceremonial props or change agents. Using an original sample of 1, German manufacturing firms, we reverse the hierarchy: Product novelty is a main driver of product-related service PRS activities. While most researchers agree that emotions play an important role in the process of intuitive decision-making IDMfew have investigated that role empirically.
